Esteemed Parents,

Greetings,

We extend a warm welcome to yet another edition of our monthly newsletter. As we embark on this enchanting voyage of cultivating young intellects, we are overjoyed to share the sheer delight and exhilaration that the month of August has bestowed upon our beloved kindergarten. Through an array of meticulously crafted activities and spirited competitions, our aim was to kindle the flickering flame of curiosity and foster a profound love for the pursuit of knowledge in our precious little ones.

Activities

The children were enthralled as they learned the art of fashioning a colourful caterpillar with paper plates. Such endeavours not only instill a sense of accomplishment in our young learners but also imbue them with a profound sense of pride in their own creations, thereby bolstering their confidence and augmenting their visual learning prowess.

TIPS FOR PARENTS

Essential tips for happy parenting

Fostering independence in kids is crucial as it lays the foundation for self-reliance, problem-solving skills, and personal growth. Here are some tips for parents to nurture independence in their little ones-

1. Choice-Making: Allowing your child to make simple choices, like selecting a snack or choosing a toy, encourages them to assert their preferences and develop decision-making skills.
2. Self-Care Skills: Teaching kids basic self-care tasks such as dressing themselves and washing their hands not only promotes independence but also builds essential life skills.
3. Responsibility: Assigning age-appropriate responsibilities, such as setting the table or putting away toys, helps kids understand the concept of contributing to the family and taking ownership of their tasks.

4. Problem-Solving: Encouraging children to find solutions to minor problems on their own fosters critical thinking and resilience. Offer guidance when needed but allow them to brainstorm solutions independently.

5. Support and Patience: While encouraging independence, it's important to strike a balance between providing support when necessary and allowing them to try things on their own. Be patient with their attempts and mistakes.

6. Celebrate Achievements: Recognizing and celebrating their small victories, whether it's successfully tying their shoes or completing a puzzle, motivates them to continue exploring and mastering new skills.
